

Championship Cup Series Racing and You

Thank you for your interest in the Championship Cup Series. CCS has been promoting and producing motorcycle road races since 1984 and has become the most professional motorcycle road racing organization in the United States. By working with our officials in the field and our nearly 5000 licensed riders, we strive to constantly improve our rules, procedures, programs and events. The CCS program was designed to be attractive to the new racer as well as the seasoned veteran who has reached Expert or Professional status.

We also recognize that not everyone can afford to travel to all four corners of the nation to compete for a championship. With that in mind we have divided the country into geographical regions, and award class championships in each regional series. Road Race Southwest, Inc. is the licensed affiliate of CCS promoting motorcycle racing in the Southwest. Your CCS license is valid at all CCS sanctioned events throughout the United States. Within the 70 plus events organized by the CCS home office and its' affiliates, you are sure to find a race series you can compete in.

Then, at the end of every season, we invite all CCS competitors to our annual Race of Champions, where you get to compete for the 40 National Championships up for grabs. Gridding for this Grand Finale is based on your performance in each CCS Championship Regional Series, so the better your finish in your region, the better your grid position is for the National Championship Race. And of course, the winner of each class is declared the Championship Cup Series National Champion for 2008!

CCS Competition Licensing Requirements

To apply for a CCS Competition License, you must be at least 12 years of age. (Southwest region event riders must be at least 14 years of age.)

If you are below the age of majority in your home state, you must provide a notarized statement of permission from a legal parent or guardian along with your license application. (You must always have a parent or legal guardian present when competing if you are below the age of majority in your home state.)

In addition, you must provide proof of prior racing experience, or a certificate of completion of an approved Rider's School. Licenses from the following organizations are accepted as proof of experience:

AMA Pro, AFM, AHRMA, ASM, ASMA, CMA, CRA, CMRA, FIM, FUSA, GLRRA, GPRA, HRC, MRA, OMRRA, RACE, RPM, SMRA, USGPRU, WERA, WSMC & WMRA. If you are using prior experience or a current license as basis for approval, you will be licensed with CCS in the same status as you currently hold with your other racing organization.

Unless you are or have been licensed with another racing organization, you must attend a licensing clinic that has been approved by the Championship Cup Series. Most of the clinics are conducted at CCS Regional events on Saturday during a race weekend. Included is both on-track and classroom instruction. Successful completion of the school allows you to buy a CCS license and sign up to race in Sunday's program. For additional information about the CCS Southwest Region License Clinic, contact John Jewett. He can be reached at 480-206-5021 and at john@roadracesw.com.

2008 Contingency Program

The 2008 season sees CCS continue one of the most productive contingency programs available anywhere. This program helps you get some of your investment back just by filling out a simple form each race weekend. It's fast, it's painless, and it will get you every bit of money that is available to each CCS licensed rider for using our sponsor's products. Tires, sprockets, bodywork, brakes, they are all pieces you will need sooner or later, so why not use the ones that will pay you for using their product. That means racing becomes more affordable for you and these great companies get the exposure and recognition for their race-proven products. For more specific product and payout information, just go to our website (www.roadracesw.com) and follow the Sponsor link to all information you need.
